ABOUT LAW ACCESS

Law Access is a not-for-profit organisation that facilitates the giving of pro bono (free or low fee) legal assistance by the Western Australian legal profession to those who cannot afford a lawyer.

We are a service of last resort for those who cannot get legal assistance from Legal Aid WA, a community legal centre or other legal services. Law Access considers applications from not-for-profits and individuals in genuine need of legal assistance.

Genuine need is assessed by considering an applicant's financial circumstances, the merit in their case and whether resolving their issue may have a broader positive effect on vulnerable groups in the community.

CHAIR'S FOREWORD

Law Access has continued throughout the current financial year to perform its role of linking those in need of legal assistance with those willing to provide pro bono legal services by building on long standing and new relationships with the many willing volunteers who are prepared to contribute to the aims of ensuring equal access to justice for those in need.

Law Access provides a vital function triaging applications for pro bono legal assistance from those who do not have the means to fund it themselves, do not qualify for legal aid and have exhausted the limits of what is able to be provided by Community Legal Services.

That function of Law Access could not be performed without the on-going relationship it has with its progenitor and sole member, the Law Society of Western Australia, its in-kind supporter and source of student volunteers, the University of Western Australia, and its many volunteers, donors, funders, sponsors, supporters and committees, who are acknowledged in the body of this report.

Law Access has been well served by our Chief Executive Officer, Alana Dowley, and Principal Lawyer, Georgia Pickering, who have spearheaded the innovative projects and enhanced organisational capacity reported on by the CEO, which, as reported, have been made possible because of collaborative arrangements with CLCs and law practices who have voluntarily devoted their time.

The thanks expressed below by the CEO for the unstinting dedication to the work of Law Access by my predecessor in the Chair, now his Honour Mathew Howard, is echoed by me.

This report reflects the very sound basis upon which Law Access sits, which is buttressed by the generosity of spirit and enthusiasm of its staff and the many contributors to its work and provides ample reason to predict that Law Access will continue to grow, in pursuit of its aim to achieve as high a degree of equality of access to justice as it can though the provision of pro bono legal assistance.

Gregory McIntyre SC
Chair

THANK YOU TO HIS HONOUR MATTHEW HOWARD (CHAIR TO JULY 2023)

His Honour became a director on the Law Access Board in January 2019 and Chair of the Board in January 2021. I have worked closely with him since my appointment as CEO in March 2022. His Honour was always available, approachable and genuinely concerned with the business of Law Access. He shared his knowledge, opinions, connections, and energy freely and proactively; approaching issues that we managed together with a mind to being both thorough and practical. It has been a pleasure and honour to have his guiding hand in our work. Law Access CEO, Alana Dowley

Applicant Demographics

Law Access assisted individuals in genuine need of legal assistance with experience of the following categories of disadvantage:

- 7% ATSI
- 34% Disability/Mental Health/Serious Health issue
- 20% Experiencing/experienced FDV
- 16% Prison/Detention
- 9% Homeless/ At risk of homelessness
- 10% CALD (Culturally and linguistically diverse)
- 14% RRR (Regional, rural and remote)
- 2% LGBTQIA+

The issue I had when I started this process seemed to me to be hopeless but once hearing my pro-bono lawyer a weight has been lifted from my shoulders. Thank god for pro-bono lawyers who give their time to help those of us who are unable to get help elsewhere.

Relieved a lot of stress off me having someone who understood the law and able to deal directly with the respondent lawyers. Would of struggled without a lawyer representing me.

REPORT FROM THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Enhancing Our Services

Law Access continues to look for ways to increase the efficacy of the pro bono contribution in addressing legal assistance needs in Western Australia. We do this through working closely with pro bono lawyers and the legal assistance sector.

Wills Project and Clinics

Law Access identified this project as a priority under the new WA Pro Bono Model. Aboriginal Family Legal Services (AFLS) worked with Jackson McDonald to develop resources for lawyers assisting Indigenous Australians with wills. Thereafter, Law Access has been working with various collaborators to deliver wills clinics in regional WA.

On 15-19 August 2022, a clinic was run in the Pilbara with the assistance of Pilbara Community Legal Service, working with AFLS and lawyers from Gilbert + Tobin.

A Wills clinic was held in the East Kimberley on 12-16 June with support from pro bono firm Barry Nilsson, AFLS, Kimberley Community Legal Services, Legal Aid WA, Aboriginal Interpreting WA and the Department of Justice.

New web-forms and information videos

This year Law Access up-graded our web-forms for applicants, warm referrers and lawyers. The form upgrade was accompanied by the creation of informational videos on how to apply to, refer to, and do pro bono work with, Law Access.

Building Organisational Capacity

Pro Bono Lawyers' Portal Resources

As well as new informational videos for lawyers, we also created a suite of resources on trauma-informed practice. Many thanks to our UWA students, Women's Legal Service WA and Sophie Taylor (RUAH) for their contributions.

Pro bono lawyers can also now access the Legal Aid Lawyers Hub through a Law Access account.

Working in Partnership

Law Access continues to participate in the Department of Justice working groups towards the implementation of a new Legal Assistance Strategy for WA.

The Law Society continues to support Law Access and pro bono lawyers in many ways and to advocate on important issues through its Access to Justice Committee .

The University of Western Australia continues to provide much valued in-kind support to Law Access and work closely with us on student opportunities.

Law Access thanks the members of our Stakeholder Advisory Committee, led by Chair Jennie Gray from Women's Legal Service.

Ensuring Our Sustainability

Reward and recognition

We sincerely thank all our staff for their commitment to Law Access. Thanks also to the many secondees and students who make a significant contribution to our work every year.

Law Access is grateful to the Western Australian Government and the Public Purpose Trust for their commitment to funding certainty to FY2025.

Each year we thank all of our pro bono lawyers and other supporters with Certificates of Appreciation. We also hold an annual Thank you Drinks event, which was generously hosted by MinterEllison.

Special contributors included Anthony Quahe, from Civic Legal, who was our pro bono lawyer of the year (FY2022).

plus 100 heroes

This year we ran a plus100 heros campaign to encourage new pro bono lawyers to register with us. Huge thanks to those who did so!

In FY2024 we will be upgrading our pro bono lawyers database and enabling more focused communications with the many lawyers who have registered with us.

2023 Walk for Justice

We held the most successful Walk for Justice yet, with 822 registered participants. We enjoyed a beautiful Perth day and much comradery.

Many thanks to:

- the McCusker Charitable Foundation,
- our Gold Sponsor (The College of Law),
- our corporate sponsors (Minter Ellison and Piper Alderman),
- all the university sponsors, and
- prize sponsors, participants and donors.

We raised over $170k for Law Access, funds which are vital for our sustainability.

National Access to Justice and Pro Bono Conference

The National Access to Justice and Pro Bono Conference reconvened in Brisbane in 2023, after an interruption to the biennial pattern saw no event in 2021 due to Covid.

An impressive line-up of speakers on a variety of interesting and highly relevant topics presented to members of the private profession, legal assistance sector, government lawyers and other service providers.

The conference was an excellent opportunity to meet with our colleagues from other States and Territories, to explore issues that may challenge us all in coming years, and to examine the role that pro bono can play in ensuring access to justice.
